NOTES IN SEASON.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish shortly "A Lady's Honor," a romantic historical novel of England in the seventeenth century, by a lady who hides her identity under the pseudonym of "Bass Blake."

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. announce a new volume entitled "Historical Essays," by the late Bishop Stubbs, which comprises his introductions to the historical papers in the Rolls Series. They have also in preparation a work on Charles II.'s famous profligate courtier, entitled "Rochester and His Contemporaries," by the author of "The Life of Kenelm Digby."

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. will publish shortly a volume by Mrs. Annie Russell Marble, entitled "Thoreau, His Home, Friends and Books," which will contain extracts from unpublished letters and journals of the Thoreau family and intimate friends, all of which will help to dispel the oft-repeated unsupported charges against the pioneer interpreter of nature-lore, of selfishness and inconsistency. The volume will contain a number of illustrations.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY have just brought out a useful book entitled "Training for Citizenship," an elementary treatise on the rights and duties of citizens, "based on the relations which exist between organized society and its individual members, and between the individual members of organized society," by Joseph Warren Smith, formerly superintendent of schools of Bay City, Mich. They announce a new work by James Creelman, a patriotic love story, entitled "Eagle Blood." The illustrations are by Rose Cecil O'Neil, who was recently married to Mr. Wilson, the author of "The Spenders," and one time editor of Puck.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish shortly the authorized "Biography of Bret Harte," by T. Edgar Pemberton, who knew Bret Harte intimately for over twenty years and who has been in close touch with him for the last eleven years, collaborating in a work which it is believed Mr. Pemberton will complete. Mr. Harte's family have cordially offered to place all material at Mr. Pemberton's disposal; and, in fact, it was their desire that Mr. Pemberton should write his life. The biographer has also the same assurance from Bret Harte's intimate friends. Dodd, Mead & Co. will publish on August 28 Miss Marie Corelli's new novel, which she has named "Temporal Power: a study in supremacy." This is the first story Miss Corelli has written since "The Master Christian" was published, and promises to be as widely discussed a book as that novel.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready "The Night Side of London," by Robert Machray, an interesting account of what takes place in London streets, theatres, clubs, dance halls and places of fashionable and Bohemian resort during gaslight hours, with illustrations by Tom Browne; "Mother and Child," a plain book of common-sense advice for the wife and mother, by Dr. Edward P. Davis, a well-known specialist, with twenty-one full-page illustrations; "Delhi" (1857), a story of the siege and of life in the city made famous by the Indian mutiny, drawn from the diary, letters and telegrams of Colonel Keith Young, edited by Sir Henry Norman, illustrated with photographs, colored plates and collotypes; also, "Trades Waste," an exhaustive and up-to-date consideration of the utilization of mill refuse and the prevention of river pollution, designed for manufacturers, engineers, analysts and inspectors, and elaborately illustrated with folding diagrams, full-page plates, etc.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Beginning with the issue of July 5, 1902, the titles of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The titles of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. Net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

"In working over this volume the author has arrived at two important conclusions: that unwise financial legislation was primarily responsible for the dangerous position of the country at the close of the War of 1812, and that the public opinion of the North with reference to the negro prior to 1830 differed but little from that of the South; the greater readiness to free him in the former section having been due to the fact that if freed he would live at the South. To give the facts that led to these conclusions their proper setting necessitated a recasting of the entire book."—Preface.

"The first part consists of further 'studies' in the character of Christ. In these I have tried to develop the former thesis and, at the same time, to discuss some of the objections which this line of argument called forth. The second part is an attempt to show that the argument for the inspiration of the Old Testament rests upon internal rather than external evidence. Part three contains 'Studies in worship.'"—Preface.

While dominated by his evil nature, and influenced by a man who acquires a mysterious power over him, Michael Carmichael commits murder, and figures in the sensational incidents described.

Sanford, Fernando. Elements of physics. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1902. c. 31+426 p. D. cl., $1.20.

"This book is a result of the attempt of the writer to apply the scientific method in all its steps to the teaching of physics. It does not contain as many laboratory experiments as are recommended in some books, but most of those it does contain are vital to the successful teaching of the book. . . . It is not prepared with the idea that it will need supplementing by a lecture course; neither is it intended to dispense with the services of a teacher. In fact, it has been prepared especially for the teacher who has had adequate training in the physical laboratory, and it is not likely to succeed with any other teacher."—Preface.

See notice, "Weekly Record," P. W., July 6, 1901, [1536] for plan of this exhaustive encyclopedia. One deviation has been made from this plan. The delimitations of the various departments having proved extremely difficult, it has been found more practical to print the initials of the department editors on the left side and the initials of the contributors on the right. A list of these initials and the names they stand for opens the volume. The pictures included are of a high order of merit. The names of the experts interested and the testimony of the two volumes now issued give assurance of an epoch-making addition to the great works of reference.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 2, 1902.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the Publishers' Weekly solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

TO DESIGNATE SIZES OF BOOKS BY THE METRIC SYSTEM.

THE Permanent Office of the International Congress of Publishers at Berne is making a canvass to discover what progress has been made in the adoption by the publishing trade of the metric system for the determining of the sizes and forms of volumes. This is in pursuance of resolutions passed by the Congress at its sessions in Paris and Brussels desiring that in all book catalogues or advertisements the size of the book should be indicated by its dimensions in centimeters, the first number indicating the height and the second the width of the uncut volume. No other specification as to size of paper is to be added to this. By this method the size of a quarto volume, for example, would be indicated in centimeters thus: 32-25, and an 8°: 25-16. The American Library Association's standard, adopted by THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, it will be noticed, varies considerably from this, the measurement of a quarto being from 25 up to 30 centimeters outside height, and that of an octavo 20 up to 25 centimeters outside height. As yet the reform has nowhere been put into practice by publishers, especially not in England or in the United States, owing to the present uncertain status of the metric system; but it is believed that it will eventually be adopted in all the principal book-producing countries.

The Permanent Office also submits to the auxiliary associations various resolutions in the shape of simple recommendations to publishers with a view to their own interests. The first of these calls for the adoption of a definite custom in regard to "overs" in printing. Another advises publishers, especially when issuing éditions de luxe, to provide for extra sheets, illustrations, etc., which may be substituted, if necessary, for those soiled or missing. Publishers of newspapers and periodicals are urged to use stronger wrappers for mailing to foreign countries.

The most important suggestion, perhaps, is the recommendation that, to prevent the confusion arising from the use of the ambiguous term "edition," this word should be used hereafter only for works which have undergone a partial or material revision of text, while some specific term should apply to simple repeated printings of the same text. The word "impression" (tirage) is proposed for the latter case; but as this is already employed to denote specifically the printing of a single sheet, a new application of it would only add to the present confusion. If a satisfactory word can be found, it would be in the interest of publishers to adopt it because of the natural distrust with which the public at present regards the advertisement of "new editions."

Circular No. 4, just issued by the Permanent Office to the auxiliary associations, is accompanied by the following long list of other resolutions of the Congress relative to copyright, book-postage, etc., to be presented to the various governments:

On the postage of book parcels and printed matters.

Introduction of parcel postal rates of 5 kilos in those countries where only packages of 3 kilos are accepted. The extension of the system of parcels post to those countries where it does not yet exist. Increase of the weight to 3 kilos (instead of 2 kilos) for printed matter which is circulated in the countries belonging to the Universal Postal Union.

On the registration of printed matters, (Tariff improvements.)

On the sending of parcels of printed matter. (Extension of this service in the Universal Postal Union and Tariff improvements.)

AMERICAN BOOK COMPANY WINS IN KANSAS.

THE Supreme Court on July 21 enjoined the American Book Company from transacting business in Kansas until it shall have complied with the Corporation law and paid into the treasury $2,000 to cover charter fees for three years, or since the present Corporation law was enacted.

In May the American Book Company secured five-year contracts from the State Text Book Commission for about 50 per cent. of the common school books used in the State, amounting to $250,000. Suit was then brought by Crane & Co., which was defeated by the American Book Company. On July 22 the American Book Company paid into the treasury the $2,000, as directed by the Court, and proceeded with the fulfillment of the contracts with the State Commission.

BOOK TRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

The organization of The Booksellers of New York City was completed at a meeting held at Brentano's on the evening of July 18. The constitution was read, approved and adopted and the following officers were elected:

OBITUARY NOTES.

WILLIAM H. WILLIAMS, general manager of the Union News Company, New York, died July 17 from heart disease at his home in Orange, N. J. He was born in New York State sixty-two years ago and came to New York City when a boy. He started as a newsboy, and a few years later obtained employment with the American News Company, with which he remained until 1873, when he organized the Union News Company and became its general manager. The company gradually increased its business until it controlled the news business of all the railroad lines through the country. Before the introduction of fast trains on the railroads Mr. Williams induced the companies to run special newspaper trains for the purpose of carrying the news to distant points early in the morning.

PROFESSOR VAN BUREN DENSLOW, journalist and author, died in New York City, July 17. He was born in Yonkers, N. Y., in 1833. From 1863 to 1868 he was editor-in-chief of the Chicago Tribune and of the Chicago Republic, and a member of the staff of the New York Tribune. In 1869 he returned to Chicago to resume his position on the Tribune of that city. Until 1880 he was the head of the Union College of Law, attached to the Northwestern University and the University of Chicago. In 1880 he renewed his connection with the press as one of the staff of the Chicago Inter Ocean. He wrote a work on "Freemont and McClellan: their political and military careers reviewed," "Modern Thinkers: principally upon social science," also, "Principles of the Economic Philosophy of Society, Government and Industry."

JOHN SOUTHWARD, whose name has been a household word in connection with English typography for many years, died suddenly on July 9, at Streatham, London, Eng. He was born in Liverpool, April 27, 1840. When seventeen he became the editor of a local literary magazine, and later on took charge of the Liverpool Observer, the first penny weekly in the town, which was printed and published by his father. In 1865 he went to London intending to apply for an opening at Hansard's, but being misdirected, found himself at Cox & Wyman's, obtained a post as reader, and thus commenced his lengthy connection with that firm. Four years later he became editor of the Printer's Register, and from this time devoted himself almost entirely to typographical literature. In 1891 Mr. Southward became the proprietor of Paper and Printing Trades Journal, which he purchased from its founder, Andrew Tuer, but he shortly after disposed of his interest to devote himself to writing. The following are among his best-known works: "A Dictionary of Typography," "Practical Printing," "Principles and Practice of Printing Machinery," "Modern Printing," and "Historical Printing," the latter being unfortunately interrupted by the author's death. He contributed the articles on printing and kindred subjects to the "Encyclopædia Britannica," "Chambers's Encyclopædia," and "Cassell's Storehouse of General Information." No man endeavored more to raise the status of the practical side of letterpress printing than Southward, while on the history of the invention and progress of the art he was a reliable authority.

PROFESSOR CHARLES KENDALL ADAMS, President of the University of Wisconsin, died at Redlands, Cal., July 26. Professor Adams was born at Derby, Vt., January 24, 1835, was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1861, from 1862 to 1865 was instructor in history and Latin at that college, and later became professor of history. For two years he studied at German and French universities, and returning to this country in 1869 he founded a historical seminary at Ann Arbor. When the school of political science was organized at the University of Michigan he was made dean. In 1881 he became non-resident professor of history at Cornell, and four years later, upon the resignation of Andrew D. White, was elected president. Under him the number of students more than doubled, the engineering schools were extended, the Sage school of philosophy and the President White school of history and political science were created and the law school was organized. There was friction between Professor Adams and the faculty, however, and in 1892 he resigned on account of grave and seemingly irreconcilable differences of opinion in regard to matters of administrative importance. He then became president of the University of Wisconsin, which post he held until 1901, when he retired on account of ill health. Since then Professor Adams lived in Southern California, but the university declined to accept his resignation, and he was still president when he died. Professor Adams was the author of a number of works on historical and educational subjects, including "Monarchy and Democracy in France," "A Manual of Historical Literature," "British Orations," and "Christopher Columbus, his life and work." He married the widow of A. S. Barnes, the founder of the publishing house of A. S. Barnes & Co.

CHARLES KEGAN PAUL, the senior member of the firm of Kegan Paul, Trench, Trübner & Co., of London, died July 20. Mr. Paul was born March 8, 1828, at White Lackington, near Ilminster, Somerset, of which village his father was curate in sole charge. He was educated at Eton and at Exeter College, Oxford, where he resided during the feverish days of the Tractarian movement. In 1851 he became curate of Tew, in the diocese of Oxford, and in the same year was ordained deacon. A year later he took sole charge of Bloxham, a large village near Banbury, where he was ordained priest. In 1853 he became tutor to two boys, with whom he travelled for a year through France, Switzerland and Germany, after which he received a conductship, or chaplaincy, at Eton. He remained at Eton until 1862, when he became vicar of Sturminster Marshall. In 1874 he resigned his living and went to London, where he was offered a position in the publishing house of Henry S. King, in Cornhill, by whom Mr.

Paul had been for some time engaged as reader. A few years later Mr. King, desiring to devote himself exclusively to his Indian department, sold his publishing business to Mr. Paul and a partner, who commenced business as C. Kegan Paul & Co. at Paternoster Square. In 1881 Mr. Paul was joined by Mr. Trench. In 1886 the firms of C. Kegan Paul & Co., George Redway and Trübner & Co. amalgamated under the firm name of Kegan, Paul, Trench, Trübner & Co., which it has remained to this day. Mr. Paul, in his "Memoirs," published in 1899, recalled the fact with pride that his firm, for good or evil, always preferred to be literary and scholarly, though he was ready to admit that a literary man is not, as a rule, a good publisher, because he is on the one hand tempted to accept books unlikely to succeed because they fall in with his own literary tastes, and, on the other, to reject those which may have considerable sale at the time because they are in no true sense literature. Thomas Hardy, George Meredith, Tennyson, Archbishop Trench, Sir Richard and Lady Burton, and Coventry Patmore are only a few of the distinguished writers with whom Mr. Paul had business relations, and he always referred with pride to the fact that his firm was associated with Andrew Lang and Robert Louis Stevenson before either of them had attained the fame which he was afterward to enjoy. Mr. Paul himself was an author of some note. He wrote a life of Godwin and edited the letters of Mary Wollstonecraft; "Biographical Sketches;" "Faith and Unfaith, and Other Essays;" "On the Wayside;" "Memories," and a translation of "Faust" and a translation of "Thoughts of Blaise Pascal." Though he remained in the Church of England until 1872, his religious convictions steadily forced him to lose sympathy with the Anglican church and finally led him, after many years of Positivism, to join the Roman church. Politically he was, as he himself put it, "an extreme Radical, a Republican, a Socialist, so far as these things can be carried on without breach of public order."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have made arrangements with William Heinemann, of London, to publish an English edition of The World's Work, which will be edited by Henry Norman, M.P., well known as an author and journalist.

The Essene is the title of a new monthly published at 1756 Champa Street, Denver, Colo., at $1 a year. It is the mouthpiece of the Essenes, "a people of real spiritual vision, who practice brotherhood in their lives." It is edited by James Arthur Edgerton and Grace M. Brown.

THE "midsummer number" of The Book Lover is as full of meat as it is handsome in appearance. The principal feature of this issue is a facsimile reproduction, in five colors and gold, of the first page of the Mazarin Bible printed on Japan paper. An article of interest to booksellers is an essay on "Rare Books," by Charles E. Goodspeed, the bookseller and publisher of Boston, Mass., giving a list of valuable books recently sold; a Bret Harte bibliography, and an article on book-binding with many illustrations of notable bindings.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger was sold on the 20th inst. to Adolph S. Ochs, who is the principal owner of The New York Times, The Philadelphia Times and The Chattanooga Times. The Philadelphia Public Ledger is one of the oldest and most prosperous newspapers in this country. It was established in 1836; from 1864 to 1894 it was conducted by George W. Childs, after whose death it passed to the ownership of the A. J. Drexel estate. The price paid was not made public, but it is said that more than $2,225,000 is involved in the transaction.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MRS. CRAIGIE, ("John Oliver Hobbes,") calls her new novel "Love and the Soul Hunters."

"THE LETTERS OF HER MOTHER TO ELIZABETH" was written by W. R. H. Trowbridge, author of "A Girl of the Multitude," a novel of the French Revolution.

ZOLA's new novel, "Truth," will be published in an English version during the fall by Chatto & Windus. This is the third in the Four Evangelists Series, the first two being "Fruitfulness" and "Labor." The last will be "Justice."

OLD BOOK NOTES.

ANDREW CARNEGIE recently purchased at private sale the library formed by the late Lord Acton, professor of history at Cambridge, and presented it to John Morley, who has practically abandoned politics for literature. Lord Acton, according to the London Times, left behind a library of secular and ecclesiastical history which is equalled by few public institutions and surpassed by no private collection in the world. For many years he had been gathering the material for a general history of civil and religious liberty in Europe, and the richness of this portion of his library can hardly be overestimated.

W. M. VOYNICH, of London, recently discovered in an old book which he wanted rebound a fragment of a manuscript map of the world and an equidistant polar projection of the sixteenth century, which, if the theories of authorities are correct takes precedence over Gerardus Mercator's projection. F. G. Ravenstein, one of the authorities on maps quoted by the London Times, declares the map discovered by Mr. Voynich, which includes only parts of Europe, East Asia and North Africa, to be an authentic work by some Spaniard, while he says that the empty space between the two hemispheres, which is filled by a rough sketch of Magellan Straits, with the outline of a ship and a flag, indicates that it was drawn after the arrival of one of Magellan's ships in 1522. The polar hemispheres of this map, which Mr. Ravenstein believes was drawn in Spain immediately after the arrival of Magellan's ship Vittoria, must be the earliest employment of the equidistant polar projection, hitherto believed to have been employed first by Mercator in his chart of 1569. The natural assumption, says Mr. Ravenstein, is that the map was drawn to illustrate a never-published work on Magellan's expedition.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ATLANTA, GA.—J. F. Lester, for many years in the book business at 60 Peachtree and 57 North Broad Streets, has sold out to a corporation, which will continue the business as the Lester Book and Stationery Co. John Aldridge and Ormond Jarnigan, long connected with the firm, will be the managers of the new concern. They have many friends, and bring large experience and energy to the new management. James C. Sturges, for the past twelve years with Lester's and for eighteen years before that connected with R. H. Richards & Co. and Williams, Sturges & Co., at Knoxville, Tenn., remains with the new concern.

BOELUS, NEB.—M. J. Morrow has succeeded Samuel F. Woodward, bookseller.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Sidney C. Eastman, referee in the matter of George M. Hill Company, bankrupt, gives notice to the creditors of that concern that he will declare and direct the payment of the first dividend on claims against the Hill Company which have been proved and allowed. The payments are to be made within ten days from August 5 at the office of Robert O. Law, 518 First National Bank Building.

CUBA, ILL.—James Welch has opened a bookstore in the Cline Building.

DALLAS, TEX.—The Dallas Book Company has been succeeded by the Texas Drug Company.

LOCKPORT, N. Y.—I. Wilbur, for forty-five years in the book and drug business, has sold out his drug business and will hereafter devote himself entirely to the book and stationery business.

NEW HAVEN, CONN.—Butler & Alger have been discharged from bankruptcy.

NORWICH, CONN.—Noyes & Davis have dissolved partnership, Charles D. Noyes retiring. The business was originally established by Sherman B. Bishop, Charles D. Noyes and George A. Davis succeeding Bishop in 1874. The business has grown steadily and developed in many directions, so that at present besides books and stationery this firm has also a large stock of silverware and novelties as well as sporting goods which they job as well as retail. The business will be continued by Mr. Davis under the old firm name.

PIQUA, O.—C. S. Zimmer & Co., booksellers, have assigned. No schedules have as yet been made public.

SAN JACINTO, CAL.—Edwin Minor, bookseller, has removed to more commodious quarters.

SHELTON, NEB.—The Paxton Drug Co., booksellers, have been succeeded by Sutherland & Co.

TEXARKANA, ARK.—Van Dyne Brothers, formerly of Pine Bluff, Ark., have opened up a bookstore here.

WEST PLAINS, Mo.—J. L. Van Wormer, bookseller, has sold out.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. announce a work on "Submarine Warfare, Past, Present and Future," by Henry C. Fyfe.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. have in preparation a fairy story for young people by Mrs. Harrison, the wife of the Mayor of Chicago.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will publish next month Arthur Morrison's new story of low life in London, entitled "A Hole in the Wall."

HENRY T. COATES & Co. have in press a romance of Thibet and China, entitled "The Tu-tze's Tower," by Louise Betts Edwards.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish in October Kipling's latest book of Indian stories for young people, entitled "Just-so Stories," which will be illustrated by the author's own drawings.

HARPER & BROTHERS announce a new edition of their successful Thistle edition of the Waverley novels. There will be forty-eight new half-tone frontispieces of pictures of scenes in Scotland.

GRANT RICHARDS, London, announces a work entitled "The Unspeakable Englishman," which in particular will bowl over "The Unspeakable Scot," and in general add to the gayety of nations.

THE OUTLOOK COMPANY will soon publish a collection of "The Spectator" essays, that for twenty years or so have occupied much the same place in The Outlook that the "Easy Chair" essays hold in Harper's.

"CAPE COD BALLADS AND OTHER VERSE," by Joe Lincoln, with pictures by Kemble, published recently by Albert Brandt, Trenton, N. J., has acquired a steady sale all over the country, and is now selling in its second edition.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, New York, will add to his series of anatomical models a complete popular "Mannikin," which, like the ones on the eye, the head and the body, will comprise a series of superimposed plates, together with a complete reference index.

AXTEL S. SWANSON, manager of the South Bend, Ind., Tribune Store, read a paper on "The Psychology of King Lear," before the American branch of the Anglo-American Shakesperian Society, at Chicago, on July 21. The paper attracted considerable attention and received warm praise.

PAFRAETS BOOK COMPANY, of Troy, N. Y., announce a reprint of Canon Ainger's edition of "The Essays of Elia," in twelve octavo volumes, limited to 1,000 sets. The work is being printed at the Merrymount Press. The first two volumes are now ready, and the balance will follow at intervals of about one month.

THE first edition of 75,000 copies of "A Speckled Bird," Augusta Evans Wilson's new novel, was sold three weeks in advance of publication, and another edition of 25,000 is in press to fill further demands. It will be issued simultaneously in England and Canada on August 12. The Dillingham Company expect to sell over 200,000 copies of the book before the end of the year.

JOHN MURRAY, London, has in press a "History of the Royal Yacht Squadron," by Montague Guest, honorary librarian of the squadron, and William B. Boulton. The volume will also contain a complete list of members and their yachts, from the foundation of the club to the present time, together with an inquiry into the history of yachting and its development in the Solent.

WILLIAM CRAMP & SON, Philadelphia, have published for private circulation a monograph entitled "Cramp's Shipyard, 1830-1902," which contains portraits of William Cramp and Charles H. Cramp, and pictures of all the ships built by the Cramps, from the clipper ship Manitou down to the latest floating derrick. The text contains exhaustive data concerning all the ships turned out by the Cramps.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY announces for early publication a new volume by Howard Agnew Johnston, D.D., which gives to Bible readers and students in plain words information regarding present-day biblical discussion, free from technicality, yet which will enable them to distinguish the constructive and the useful from the destructive and valueless in the discussion of the authority and inspiration of the Bible.

THE CENTURY COMPANY have in preparation "The Story of Athens," by Howard Crosby Butler, lecturer on architecture at Princeton, which will describe life and art in Athens from the beginning, with numerous illustrations; also, "Barnaby Lee," a story for young people of New Amsterdam during the sway of Peter Stuyvesant, by John Bennett, author of "Master Skylark." They will publish shortly, in book form, J. H. Stoddard's "Recollections of a Player," with an introduction by William Winter.

JOHN C. RICHARD, the manager of the stationery department of the American News Company, rounds out his thirtieth year with that house this month. Mr. Richard is known to the American trade for close upon half a century. In 1866 he joined his friend Leopoldt Illfelder in forming the firm of Illfelder, Richard & Co., importers of stationery. Three years afterward he joined the forces of the American News Company, where his judgment and experience have always been of great value. We offer our hearty congratulations to Mr. Richard.

THE NEW AMSTERDAM BOOK COMPANY have made arrangements with McClure, Phillips & Co. to publish in their red paper book series Anthony Hope's "Tristram of Blent." They will bring out in the same series: "Joan of the Sword Hand," by S. R. Crockett, and "Three Men on Wheels," by Jerome K. Jerome. They have in preparation a reprint of Lady Charlotte Guest's English version of the mediæval Welsh tales, commonly known as the "Mabinogian," edited by Alfred Nutt; also, a prose translation, by Miss Jessie L. Weston, from the mediæval Dutch version of "Lancelot," entitled "Morien."

BURROWS BROTHERS COMPANY, Cleveland, will follow their reprint of Denton's "Brief Description of New York" with reprints of Wooley's "Journal During Two Years' Residence in New York," edited by Professor E. G. Bourne, of Yale; Miller's "Description of New York," Budd's "Good Order in Pennsylvania," and Alsop's "A Character of the Province of Maryland," described in Sabin's "Bibliotheca Americana" as "one of the rarest of books." They have also in preparation an edition of Ferdinand Columbus's life of his father, Christopher Columbus, prepared by Professor E. G. Bourne.

THE AMERICAN BOOK COMPANY announce "Plato's Euthyphro," edited with introduction by William Arthur Heidel, professor in Iowa College. This is the first of a new Greek series for colleges and schools to appear under the general editorial supervision of Professor Herbert Weir Smyth, of Harvard. The introduction to this volume considers the lives of Plato and Socrates, the contents and import of the Euthyphro, and its place in the economy of Plato's works. The notes explain all allusions. An appendix gives a bibliography, as well as critical notes on the text, while a Greek and an English index follow.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have put up thirty of their more popular books for young people, in uniform cloth bindings, as The Boys' and Girls' Bookshelf. The following are among the authors represented: Louisa M. Alcott, Susan Coolidge, Mrs. Ewing, Laura Richards, Mary P. Wells Smith, Louise Chandler Moulton, Robert Louis Stevenson, Lily F. Weselhoeft, A. G. Plympton, Harriet Prescott Spofford, and Jean Ingelow. They have also just added to their Children's Friend Series "Pansies and Water-Lilies," by Louisa M. Alcott; "The Doll's Journey," by Louisa M. Alcott; "A Very Ill-Tempered Family," by Juliana H. Ewing; "Snap Dragons," by Juliana H. Ewing; also, "The Little Women Play" and "The Little Men Play," adapted from Miss Alcott's stories by Elizabeth L. Gould.

C. N. CASPAR Co., Milwaukee, have brought out a baker's dozen of souvenir postal cards with views of Milwaukee. These are in two sizes, ten different views on cards of the regulation postal card size and three giant cards with a quadruple folder, two containing eight and eleven views respectively, and the third giving a fine panoramic view of Milwaukee, 4x14 inches. These larger cards are closed with an ornamental wafer. They retail for 10 cents each, or three for 25 cents. The small card contains one large or two small views, printed in different tints, and retails at two for 5 cents, or ten for 25 cents. The custom of using these cards is growing in favor with the public in this country, and these additions will no doubt find a ready sale. We may add that the process by which these cards have been printed gives them an artistic and graceful appearance.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish as one of the Yale Bicentennial Publications "Elements of Experimental Phonetics," by Dr. Edward W. Scripture, assistant professor of experimental psychology. The first part of the book is devoted to speech curves, the methods of obtaining them by talking machine, the methods of analysis, and the deductions concerning vocal sounds that have been made from them. The second part discusses the organ of hearing, the psychology of speech perception, the association of speech ideas and experimental results that bear upon the teaching of languages. The physiology of the vocal organs is considered in a third part, the phenomenon of breathing, the action of the larynx, and so forth. The nature of vowels and diphthongs, melody of speech, rhythmic action and verse rhythm are also touched upon. They also announce a work on "Madame de Pompadour," by H. Noel Williams, illustrated with sixteen photographs reproduced from famous paintings.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. have in preparation for fall a work entitled "Mind Power and Privileges," a scientific study of mesmerism, hypnotism, Christian Science, etc., by Albert B. Olston; "Word Coinage," a study of slang and provincialisms, by Leon Mead; "Economics of Forestry," a study of forestry from the standpoint of political economy, by B. E. Fernow, and "Messages of the Masters," a series of discussions of the spiritual interpretations of great paintings, by Amory H. Bradford. New editions of standard authors announced by the same firm include the Virginia Edition of Edgar Allan Poe's works in seventeen volumes, edited by Professor James A. Harrison, of the University of Virginia; the Lenox Edition of Nathaniel Hawthorne's Romances, in fourteen volumes, edited by Professor Katharine Lee Bates, of Wellesley College, and the Farrington Edition of Tennyson's works, in ten volumes, edited by Professor Eugene Parsons. The latest catalogue of Messrs. Crowell & Co. show that they have added 738 new volumes to their list during the year—this total including new editions and new styles of binding as well as new titles.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have in preparation "A History of the Nineteenth Century Year by Year," by Edwin Emerson, Jr., which groups in moderate compass the central facts of each country's development during the past century in such a way as to make them easily accessible to the inquirer; "The Weather and Practical Methods of Forecasting," by "Farmer" Dunn, a well-known government "weather shark"; "The Uganda Protectorate," by Sir Harry Johnston, an important contribution to the history of East Central Africa, that contains within an area of some 150,000 square miles nearly all the wonders and some of the horrors of the Dark Continent; "Cruising in the West Indies," by Anson Phelps Stokes, that should prove interesting to yachtsmen who may plan to visit the West Indies; "The Lady of the Barge," a delightfully humorous book by W. W.

Jacobs; "Paul Kelver," the first long novel by Jerome K. Jerome; also, an entertaining book by Walter Russell, famous as a painter of children's portraits, treating of the training of children from the child's point of view, in which the child's mind will be shown not only in the text, but also in a series of beautiful pictures drawn by the author.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY contradict in the Chicago Record-Herald certain statements recently made in regard to Charles Major's "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall." There has been a good deal of curiosity to know what inducements the Macmillans offered Mr. Major to change his publishers after the Bowen-Merrill Company had made his reputation by the wide advertising of "When Knighthood Was in Flower." Among others, a statement was made that Mr. Major had been guaranteed a royalty on 100,000 copies, adding in regard to the size of the royalty, "the gossips put it all the way from 12½ to 25 per cent., but Mr. Major's friends say he was guaranteed $5,000." The Macmillans say not one of these statements is correct. They also deny that the book is not selling as well as expected, or that they are in any danger of losing money on the book. The Macmillans have made arrangements to publish the lectures delivered by the late Lord Acton as Regius Professor of Modern History at Cambridge, on "The French Revolution" and on "General Modern History." These lectures will be published in two volumes, together with a reprint of Lord Acton's inaugural lecture. It is hoped also later on to publish one or more volumes of essays. The present Lord Acton has entrusted the work of editing and seeing the lectures through the press to R. Vere Laurence, Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY announce a work on "Elementary Coal Mining," a new field and practical book by George L. Kerr, the author of "Practical Coal Mining," intended for those beginning the study of mining, with over two hundred illustrations; "Breachly-Black Sheep," the newest novel by the writer of vivid and adventurous stories of life in the South Sea Islands. Louis Becke, who is considered to be to that part of the world what Robert Louis Stevenson was to Samoa and Rudyard Kipling is to English India; "Arms and Armour-English Heraldry," two volumes, by Charles Boutell, which deal authoritatively with the subjects indicated by their titles, elaborately illustrated with drawings and reproductions from photographs; "The Opera," a sketch of its development from the earliest times, with a full description of every work of importance in the modern repertory, by R. A. Streetfield; a special edition, limited to 356 copies, of "The Thousand and One Nights," from Edward W. Lane's version of the original Arabic, in six volumes, elaborately illustrated; also, a sumptuous edition of "The Essays of Elia," introduced by a biographical note, and an appreciation of Lamb by E. B. Lucas, with drawings in broad line by A. Garth Jones. They will publish shortly "Gentleman Garnet," a romantic tale of a Tasmanian Robin Hood and his band, by Harry B. Vogel; also, "Sign of the Seven Sins," a new story by Le Queux.

SMALL, MAYNARD & Co. whose address is now 10 Arrow Street, Cambridge, Mass., will add to their Beacon Biographies a life of Audubon, by John Burroughs, whose fitness to write such a sketch will be recognized by all. They announce that the first edition of 2000 copies of Holman Day's new poems, entitled "Pine Tree Ballads," was exhausted within a week after publication, and that this book bids fair to exceed the remarkable success of Mr. Day's first book, "Up in Maine," of which nearly 10,000 copies have been sold. They announce that the authors of the stories which appeared anonymously in "A House Party" are as follows: "The Angel of the Lord," George W. Cable; "Artemisia's Mirror," Bertha Runkle; "Aunt Nancy's Annuity," Frank R. Stockton; "The Broken Story," Ruth McEnery Stuart; "Dawson's Dilemma," John Kendrick Bangs; "The Fairy Godmother," Mrs. Burton Harrison; "A Family Tradition," Paul Leicester Ford; "The Green Bowl," Sarah Orne Jewett; "The Messenger," Octave Thanet; "Mother," Owen Wister; "The Red Oxen of Bonval," Charles G. D. Roberts; "A Surrender," Robert Grant. In the original competition no correct guess was received, the nearest being that of Mrs. Horace Silsbee, of Seneca Falls, N. Y., who guessed correctly the authorship of eleven out of twelve stories. In the second contest, in which the names of the authors were given and the question was which author wrote each story, twenty-four correct answers were received.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will bring out here "The Poet and Penelope," by L. Parry Truscott, a novel that has attracted some attention in England. The poetic temperament is set upon a pedestal and at the same time tied to her apron strings by the spirit of common sense and practicality. A man and a maid find mutual attraction in their incapacity for complete understanding of one another, and serve the novelist with no little store of misunderstanding full of dynamic possibility for plot. With his assistance they finally make out what they are severally about, and end by liking one another all the better for their temporary misconceptions. They have in preparation an authorized English version, by L. G. Meyer, of "The Youth of La Grande Mademoiselle (1627-1652)," by Arvède Barine; "William Morris, poet, craftsman and socialist," by Elizabeth Luther Cary, also, library editions of Miss Cary's "Browning, poet and man," "Tennyson, his homes, his friends and his work," and "The Rossettis;" "St. Augustine and His Age," by Joseph McCabe, author of "Peter Abelard;" "The Romance of Leonardi da Vinci, the forerunner," an authorized translation of Dmitri Mérejkowski's "The Resurrection of the Gods," edited by Professor Herbert French; "Lavender and Old Lace," by Myrtle Reed, author of "The Spinster Book;" "The Earth and the Fulness Thereof," by Peter Rosegger, translated by Francis E. Skinner; "The Lost Art of Reading," by Gerald Stanley Lee; also, "A Guide to the Best Historical Novels and Tales," by Jonathan Nield.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 20 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charges to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

FRANCIS GOTTSBERGER, C.P.A.

Price, Full Cloth, Quarto, $5.00

"Practical illustration is given in the facsimile reproduction of the books relating to an assumed estate, with the detailed entries and their final consolidation in a statement to the Surrogate in settlement. The whole matter is made so plain that it can be easily understood even by persons having no previous acquaintance with accounts. For the purpose of affording information in regard to the accumulation of moneys, compound interest tables are introduced, with examples showing the working of the same in relation to sinking funds and similar matters. To borrow a hackneyed phrase, the book seems, indeed, to fill a long felt want."
